

INTERESTING EVENTS IN THE LOCAL SOCIAL WORLD

MRS. FRANK HARRISON—Phone 139

Interesting Meeting of Ladies' Aid Society

Probably one of the greatest treats the ladies of the Federated Church have enjoyed for a long time was the meeting of the Aid Society on Wednesday afternoon when about forty ladies and twenty children gathered at the Presbyterian Church at 11 a. m. and from there motored out to Rindon, seven miles east of town, and on the hillside under the pines enjoyed a sumptuous picnic spread. After dinner the ladies spread the regular meeting of the society in the home of Mrs. R. G. Stevenson and Mrs. James A. Davis. After the business part of the meeting was disposed of a most delightful impromptu program was rendered. Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. Davis gave two beautiful vocal numbers, and Mrs. Eastburn favored the ladies with an interesting reading to which she graciously answered with a short story encore. And there was a short talk by J. A. Davis, who has recently returned from France. This made an enjoyable finale to the program.

The next meeting of the ladies of the Federated Church will be the missionary meeting which will occur on the conference grounds east of town. The leaders will be missionaries, and the subject will be "Indians." This meeting will take place August 14.

Entertainment for Children Is Great Success

The entertainment which was given last night for the children of the members of the Rebekah and Odd Fellows lodges was a success in every way. The children, who had been carefully drilled, presented a splendid program, and the luncheon which was served at the close, delighted the hearts of the small guests to no small degree, and at leaving time the one thought foremost in the minds of these little people was that the Rebekahs know how to be hostesses to children in a right royal fashion.

Depart for Southern Home

Mrs. W. T. Stewart and daughter, Miss Thelma Stewart, of McCall, Miss. who have been here for the past ten days visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Heisser, will leave tonight for their home in Mississippi. They will take with them little Vivian and Ralph Heisser to remain until about Christmas.

Mr. Heisser, with his aunt, Mrs. Stewart, and cousin, Miss Stewart, went up to the canyon yesterday.

Eastern Star to Meet

There will be a regular meeting of the Eastern Star next Tuesday night, and all members are urged to attend. It is expected that there will be an initiation of several candidates.

To Winslow

Miss Mary Dady returned to Winslow Sunday after spending a pleasant week-end as the guest of Miss Mary Francis.

Bridge Party

Complimentary to Mrs. W. T. Stewart and Miss Thelma Stewart, guests in the C. P. Heisser home, Mrs. Heisser and Mrs. William Mullen entertained with a most enjoyable bridge party Monday afternoon. Seated around the bridge tables there were about forty guests who enjoyed an enthusiastic game of cards and a tempting luncheon at the close. Those responding to the invitations were: Mesdames Pat J. Moran, Harlow Yeager, Paul Zinn, Walter Lindbloom, Alex Johnston, George Herrington, E. M. Brown, Mary Bart, Stuart, Felix Manning, Hayes Nance, A. J. Sullivan, George Babbitt, J. D. Jackson, B. Hock, Chambers, Paul Coffin, Tom Rees, Tom McCullough, L. W. Cress, John Metz, Buck, Linderman, Wm. T. Borum, Henry Albers, Katharine McMillan, Edgar Hash, C. W. Isham, John Hennessey, Stroble, W. W. Smith, C. B. Wilson, O'Farrell; the Misses Metz, Rossetti, Irene Costello, Maggie Rickle and Elaine Babbitt.

In the evening these hostesses entertained again at cards, five hundred was played, and the guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Pat J. Moran, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Crable, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jakle, Mr. and Mrs. William Mullen, Mrs. Mary Bart, Misses Florence and Irene Bart, and the guests of honor, Mrs. and Miss Stewart.

Anniversary Celebrated

Monday's twilight shadows were retreating before the approach of darkness when a number of friends descended upon the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Gassman and decided to celebrate the second anniversary of this young couple. It was an unexpected visit, but the affable host and hostess quickly recovered their composure and conferred the freedom of their home upon their self-invited guests. The major portion of the evening was devoted to card playing, and a substantial midnight luncheon concluded the evening's enjoyment.

Mr. and Mrs. Marsh Gone

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Marsh left a few days ago for the coast, where they will spend a short time. From there they will go to Albuquerque, at which place they will make their future home.

Visiting in Winslow

Mrs. C. M. Beckwith with her two daughters, Misses Mary and Katherine, went down to Winslow a few days ago where they will visit with two of Mrs. Beckwith's sisters who have recently arrived from the east.

House Party

Miss Katherine Hibben was hostess at a house party over last week-end at the attractive Hibben cottage out at Lake Mary. Those enjoying the hospitality of little Miss Hibben were Miss Mae Calhoun, Miss Marian Nelson, and Miss Katherine Beckwith.

From San Diego

S. J. Gassman and family are enjoying a visit from Mr. Gassman's father, R. M. Gassman, and sister, Miss Bernadine Gassman, of San Diego.

At the Federated Church

Reverend O. S. Baum delivered two forceful sermons on last Sunday to audiences very gratifying in numbers, for it was necessary to use the Sunday school room to accommodate the crowd.

At the evening service the congregation was given a treat when they were given the opportunity of hearing rare singing by the Fowler quartette, which consists of Mr. and Mrs. Fowler and two daughters, who have recently arrived from Chicago to make their home in Flagstaff.

On next Sunday morning Rev. O. S. Baum will take for his theme, "The Heart of a Great Message." In the evening he will speak of "A Criticism of Christ."

Returned to Phoenix

Miss May Morgan, who has been a house guest of Mrs. E. H. Wheat for the past two weeks, and who was the inspiration for several social affairs during her visit, returned to her home in Phoenix Wednesday morning.

TRIAL OF INDIAN MAY END THIS WEEK

man, which had been found, shot through the head and partly burned in the ruins of the store, which, it is alleged, the Indians set on fire in an effort to cover up the crime.

Lorenzo Hubbell, Jr., nephew of the deceased, testified that he was employed by his uncle to run the store where the murder occurred and that the body found in the ruins was that of his uncle.

Two Indian brothers, Belome Bigue No. 1 and Belome Bigue No. 2, told about discovering the fire and the latter related how the two of them had trailed the two suspects to their hiding place in a cave across the Little Colorado river from Leupp.

Hostquin Undas Bigue testified to picking up the murderer's gun outside the store.

R. B. Benton, Burr Williams, and Quinai Bodene were among the first witnesses called yesterday. The latter repeated the defendant's confession to him.

Ta Whi Shoshi, an Indian policeman who helped arrest the two fugitives, described the arrest and repeated their confession to him.

Albert House, who had acted as interpreter between the Indians and Stephen Janus, after the captives had been turned over to the latter, was called to the stand, but his testimony was not allowed.

E. A. Marks, Indian teacher, drew a diagram of Hubbell's store. The testimony of James Giddings, "Rimby Jim," wound up the proceedings yesterday. The Indians had confessed to him and one of them had illustrated by drawing a diagram of the scene of the murder and the relative positions of the principals, which "Rimby" explained to the jury.

It was noticeable that there was no essential difference in the stories told by the defendants to the various people to whom they described the fatal occurrence. In substance, it is as follows:

The two Indians went into Hubbell's store, the younger buying some cookies and laying down fifty cents. The older brother then bought something and handed Hubbell a dollar. They received no change, and asked for it, whereupon, they assert, Hubbell told them they would have to trade the rest of the money out. It was complicated at that point by Hubbell's dog, which tore the trousers of one of them. They then demanded not only the change due, but pay for the damage done to the trousers. Hubbell told them to get out or he would kill them. Both Hubbell and the older Indian grabbed for Hubbell's gun, which was lying near the counter. The Indian got it, whereupon Hubbell ran to his bedroom and got another, coming out and shooting at them twice. After the second shot, the older Indian fired back, striking Hubbell in the head and killing him.

The attorneys for the defense made a spirited effort to prevent the admission of these confessions, but was overruled.

$10,000 HOME WILL BE BUILT BY A. W. BIKKER

A. W. Bikker, who has returned to Albuquerque after an absence of six years, will build a $10,000 home at Eleventh street and Tijeras avenue. He bought the lots from City Attorney W. A. Kelcher and Capt. W. C. Reid and said that the building would be started next Monday if it was at all possible.

The house will have six rooms, including a glass sleeping porch, and its architectural style will be the Spanish mission like the home of Capt. Reid, next to which it will stand. Mr. Bikker estimated that it would cost him more than $10,000 to complete the house.

Mr. Bikker for the last six years has been at Flagstaff, Ariz., but he intends to make his home here in the future. He arrived Wednesday from Flagstaff with the plans for his home already finished and set about making arrangements for the building at once.—Albuquerque Journal.

THOMAS F. BURRIS DIES

Thomas F. Burris, who had been an invalid for many years as the result of being severely crushed twenty years ago in a mine accident, died on Saturday, aged 67. His death was unexpected, and it is believed that the immediate cause was some organic trouble of the heart. He leaves a widow and four grown sons. The funeral was held on Monday at the Flagstaff Undertaking Parlor.

UNIVERSITY AND NORMALS TO LOSE UNDER ROSS' RULING

Both the state university and the two normal schools will be cut out of thousands of dollars income if State Treasurer Harry S. Ross has his say. Dormitory, matriculation, and other fees, as well as other sources of income, must now all be turned over to the state treasurer, and can not be used by the institution for maintenance, or for any other purpose, says Ross, and he bases his statement on his interpretation of Senate Bill 90, now in effect.

This bill, it will be remembered, was introduced by Senator Hughes, Democrat, of Cochise county, and at the special instance of Governor Thos. Campbell, it is said. Its primary provision is that no official, or department of the state, is permitted to spend more than the amount specifically appropriated for any particular office or department. Ross holds that to use dormitory fees, for instance, for the maintenance of an institution in addition to the appropriation for that institution, would be a violation of the new law, and one which he intends to prevent.

He calls attention to the wording of the new law, which reads in part as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any officer of this state to audit, settle, allow, pay, or in any manner authorize the drawing of any warrant upon the treasury of this state for an amount of any claim, which under the provisions of section seven (7) of this act, will be or is in excess of the appropriation to the fund upon which such burden of payment would fall, except for the prohibitions in this act contained."

"It is plain from the wording of the bill," said Ross, "that I would become guilty of a high misdemeanor if I allowed any violation. Hence my interest in seeing that the proper system is followed in the future."

Ross received a check yesterday from the university of $214.44, representing a balance in the experimental farm sale funds the close of the fiscal year. Ross believes that when the audit of state institutions is complete it will show many other small balances which by rights, he says, should be turned over to the general fund of the state.

CONDITION OF LIVE STOCK AND RANGES IN ARIZONA

Moderate to heavy downpours of rain have occurred over the range district continuing a beneficial effect in all sections. It will be noted that such conditions prevail in even the extreme portions of the grazing area. Seligman in the west and Nogales and Douglas in the south report both range and stock in good condition. The precipitation at Grand Canyon for the week was over four inches, following a moderate rainfall for the week previous. Range and stock in that vicinity are reported as being good. The inference from reports of correspondents is that the condition of both stock and ranges at this season is better than in years past. In a number of places present conditions assure an abundance of grass and water for months to come. All correspondents without exception report the range as improving.

ARMY STILL HAD NEARLY A MILLION MEN JULY 14

The army's strength on July 14 was 782,000, of whom 282,000 were in the A. E. F., and 91,000 at sea enroute to the United States. Up to today discharges had reached the total of 2,946,804, and the number sailing from Europe since November 11, was 1,717,168.

ONE OF THE SIGNS

"I tried my best to find out if that new man was married, and I don't know yet," said the spinster at the boarding house.

"I found out before ten minutes had passed," said the wise widow. "He is married."

"How did you know?"

"He listened to everybody who started to talk without once interrupting."

STOCKMEN FAVOR FEDERAL RANGE CONTROL

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 23.—The conference of representatives of livestock men of all the western grazing states went overwhelmingly on record today in favor of federal control of the public grazing lands, passing the following resolution with but one dissenting vote:

"Whereas the indiscriminate grazing of public lands has resulted in a great reduction of forage; and

"Whereas this condition results in great economic loss to the nation; now therefore be it

"RESOLVED, By the convention of stockmen representing the live-stock interests of the states of Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, New Mexico, Washington, Nebraska, and Wyoming, at a meeting in Salt Lake City, July 21, 1919, that Congress be urged to initiate legislation to the end that grazing on the unappropriated public domain be regulated by the federal government under the supervision of the Department of Agriculture with the interests of the live-stock men properly safeguarded; and be it further

"RESOLVED, That we urge the heartiest co-operation between the Department of Agriculture and the Department of the Interior that this result may be speedily obtained."

At the conclusion of the vote, Dwight B. Heard, who has for many years been working for federal control of the public grazing lands, moved that the large body of representative stockmen present, including both the sheep and cattlemen, at once organize into an association known as the United Stockmen's association, for the federal control of the public lands. This motion was unanimously adopted.

The officers of the conference—Charles M. Mullen, of Arizona, president, and R. C. Dillingham, of Idaho, secretary-treasurer, were unanimously elected the first officers of the new association, and an executive committee of one sheepman and one cattleman from each of the thirteen states represented, was appointed. Funds to carry on the work of the new organization were raised and arrangements are being made to present at once in Washington to the proper committee of Congress the important resolution adopted.

The members of the executive committee from Arizona are Hugh Campbell and Dwight B. Heard.

CROP PROGRESS IN ARIZONA

Crops in dryland sections have made remarkable progress during the week. Oats, beans, spring wheat sorghums, potatoes, and all forage crops are generally in good condition. Oats for hay is stooling out unusually well, owing to the damp weather, and is already making a heavy crop. The rains have not been particularly advantageous to cotton in irrigated sections as there is a tendency to too much plant growth, and Johnson grass has become troublesome in some fields. No shedding has occurred as yet. Peaches in carload lots were shipped out of the valley during the week.

"The course of true love never did run smooth."

"Oh, well, we all like to bump the bumps."

THE NEW WAR-TIME PROHIBITION LAW PASSED BY HOUSE

The prohibition enforcement bill as it passed the House, provides:

After January 26, 1920: Every person permitted under the law to have liquor in his possession shall report the quantity and kind to the commissioners of internal revenue. (This applies to chemists, physicians, etc.)

The possession of any liquor, other than as authorized by the law, shall be prima facie evidence that it is being kept for sale or otherwise in violation of the law. It will not be required, however, to report, and it will not be illegal to have in one's possession, liquor in a private dwelling while the same is occupied and used for personal consumption by the owner, his family or his guests.

The possession of such liquors, however, bears the burden of proof that the liquor was acquired and is possessed lawfully.

Intoxicating liquor is defined as a beverage containing more than one-half per cent of alcohol.

Any house, boat, vehicle or other place where liquor is manufactured or sold is declared a nuisance.

No person shall manufacture, sell, barter, give away, transport, import, export, deliver, furnish or receive any intoxicating liquors.

Liquor for non-beverage purposes, and wine for sacramental use may be sold under specified regulations.

Denatured alcohol, medicinal preparations, (including patent medicines), unfit for beverage purposes, toilet articles, flavoring extracts and vinegar are exempted.

Registered physicians are authorized to issue prescriptions under strict regulations for the use of liquor in cases where it may be considered necessary as medicine.

Liquor advertisements of all kinds are prohibited.

Sale, manufacture or distribution of compounds intended for use in the unlawful manufacture of liquor is prohibited, together with sale or publication of recipes for home manufacture.

A REAL DIFFICULTY

Ben Turpin, the famous cross-eyed comedian, tells that on one occasion he approached two small Liverpool boys, and asked one of them to carry his bag to the station.

"Which one, mister?" piped both urchins in chorus.

"You," said Ben.

"But, which one?"

"You," patiently explained the funny man. There was a pause. Then one of the small boys mustered up courage and said:

"Please, mister, if you'll close one eye, then maybe we can tell which of us you are talking to."
